A yearbook is a source of nostalgic memories to it's owner. In the years ahead you will cherish this book even more, as you leaf through the pages and recall vivid memories of games played, of lively socials sponsored by your Students' Union, of the Spring Tea or of Awards Night.

To Mr. Johnston and the members of our Yearbook Committee I extend our sincere thanks for the enthusiasm, the reliability, the industry and the initiative that you have so capably demonstrated in providing us with another fine yearbook.

In H. A. Gray we enjoy an atmosphere of cordiality and loyalty amongst students and teachers. Many factors contribute to the development of this good spirit and include the cooperative attitudes of parents, the natural inclination of H. A. Gray students to be proud of their school and the deep concern of the teachers of each of you as individuals. It is not always easy for students to understand how concerned we are about their programs and their future. It is a concern that arises from our intense desire to see you all developing your abilities as fully as possible. To see you grow in wisdom, responsibility and character is a source of deep satisfaction to your parents and to your teachers. Make the most of your opportunities while you are young.

To our 1975 graduands I would like to extend my very best wishes for success and happiness in your high school education and beyond.

The very best of luck to everyone and Happy Holidays.

E. P. Wynychuk, Principal,
H. A. Gray School.

President's Message

It has been a pleasure to be president of the Students Council this year. It was a great year and a whole new experience for myself. There was always plenty of help to set up dances, ski trips, the spring tea, the year-end camp and other field trips.

We didn't get as much done as we wanted but we did accomplish many useful and educational activities.

The students helped make this a most enjoyable and successful year. The rest of the students council helped very much and I thank them. I thank all the teaching staff for supervising our social and outdoor activities, especially "Birch Bay." I especially thank our advisor, Mr. Emmott, and our principal, Mr. Wynychuk, who made all of our school activities possible.

Thank you,
Michael Mahoney
Student Council President

THE STUDENT'S TEN COMMANDMENTS

1. Thou shall not copy from others,
Let them do it for you.
2. Thou shall not drive the teachers to their grave,
Make them provide the gas.
3. Thou shall not flunk in June,
Do it at Easter, avoid the rush.
4. Thou shall not push in the hall,
Tripping is easier.
5. Thou shall not be late for class,
Take the whole day off.
6. Thou shall not drive fast on school grounds and kill the students,
Wait for the teachers.
7. Thou shall not throw erasers in class,
Throw chalk, it's harder.
8. Thou shall not tear up your school books,
Burn them and destroy the evidence.
9. Thou shall not whisper in class,
Shouting attracts more attention.
10. Thou shall not neck in the halls,
Closets are darker.

Art

This year Art has been very interesting. The year started out with clay-work and pottery-making. James Dykau, a very talented Grade 9 student has made the teapot and the cookie jar you see in the picture, above left. The picture on the right is a macaroni collage made with several different types of macaroni. This collage was made by another very talented student.

Weaving has also been a most popular art this year. Eric Tsobanis has weaved the beautiful, most original purse on the bottom left.

On the right are God's eyes. They are fun to make and can lighten up a room with all the different colors of wool that are used.

Boys' Soccer Team

This year the inter-school competition in soccer was organized into 2 divisions. The "A" division was the big school division while the "B" division was comprised of the small schools, dependent upon the number of students in a school.

During the regular schedule, the H.A.Gray team won 4 games and lost 1, ending up in first place. Because H.A.Gray came first in the league, they received a bye into the finals against Spruce Avenue.

With a super effort, the H.A.Gray boys won the sudden death final game 3 - 1 in overtime. All in all it was a great season for the soccer team and their hard work was rewarded by winning the small schools trophy.

Soccer Team Coach,
Mr. Moores

"Sixty One Glorious Years Old"

The H. Allen Gray school began in the fall of 1914 with 10 classes, including a kindergarten or possibly 10 plus a kindergarten, I think. Actually, there were three classes in the present building from Easter until June with Mr. Bower as principal or at least he was in the building and was officially principal of the 97th street school. I think it was called Westwood.

The opening in a formal manner must have been made in September or October 1914. If you look through the files of the Journal for the fall of 1914 you will probably find an account of it.

I went in as principal, and the only man teacher in the school, at the age of 23. My salary was munificent, $1800 a year even though I had a degree. The war was on so the School Board cut our salaries 10% to save money and I was down to $1620 a year after October 1. Another cut of a further 5% brought me down to $1530 after January 1, 1915. Teachers salaries were $900 to $1200 with an extra $200 for a degree and a lady vice-principal got $200 additional.

The second year, 1915-16, we had a man not as vice-principal but as a classroom teacher, - - Mr. W. H. Todd who was vice-principal for a year with me at Alex Taylor for the year 1916-17 and later became principal of Queen's Avenue school. The male vice-principal was actually designated as male assistant in those days.

H.A. Gray was in a small sectional league with Norwood and Parkdale in basketball (girls), football (soccer) and baseball. We lost every game we played the first year but the second year we won our section in soccer and baseball. In 1915-16, our cadets tied for second place among the school cadet teams in the city (about 12 in number) even though we had 3 different captains during the year.

When I first went to the school, I wondered where all the pupils would come from. The block of land due east of the school had two houses. In one of the houses, there was a man and wife with no children and in the other (really only a shack) a bachelor. There was one little settlement of 5 or 6 houses about 3 blocks to the north west on a little rise in the ground. There were hardly any houses to the north or west but there a few close ones to the south and east for some blocks. The east boundary of the school district was 91 street and the south boundary was 116th avenue. Most of the children came from an area 3 or 4 blocks from the corner of 118th ave. and 95th street. Sidewalks were very few and were board only except some south of 118th avenue. Most of the streets were simply ungraded trails but 97 street was graded and gravelled. One could cut across on almost a straight line from the corner of 95A street, 118th avenue, and the path led through bushes at one or two spots.

There was water and sewer in the building but we were not allowed to use the sewer in the building on account of an injunction granted by someone along the river somewhere around 82nd avenue. Outside facilities were in use for a few months.

Bishop Gray was a very fine man - - somewhat of the old school. He told our boys that he was starting a new group, in Edmonton, for boys. When a boy asked, "What will we do?" he replied, "You'll do whatever I tell you to. If I tell you to march down Jasper Avenue with a tin can on your head, you'll do it."
